HOW ARE WE UNIQUE?

Our goal is to work diligently with existing and prospective customers in providing them with efficient solutions to create a more productive work environment.

At AWG, we utilize our talents across a variety of disciplines to identify and improve production inefficiencies. We strive to create a strong, true partnership with our customers.

What really sets us apart from the competition is our capability to offer turnkey robotic automation, hard automation and tooling solutions, engineered and manufactured in the Midwest. Also, we can aid in developing weld procedures and certifying personnel in welding applications. We currently provide consulting for both domestic and international companies. At AWG, we believe in treating all our customers equally regardless of size. It is our goal to ensure that you are sustaining and achieving your production goals. As your company's success grows, so does ours. That, is true partnership.

WHAT CAN WE OFFER?

Full-Service Automation

Have you always wondered if automation is right for you? Let us help you with that decision. We build custom welding and cutting robotic and hard automation systems. From soup to nuts, tooling, enclosures and safety, we handle the entire system. If you have an issue, you call us, no one else. We will calculate cycle times, provide simulation and help you justify your automation cell. Training and follow up is paramount when jumping into automation for the first time. AWG will be there every step of the way.

Extensive integration experience in controls engineering, programming, and installation. We provide services to a wide range of customers in several industries. To support, this large variety of industries, our team has developed competencies in several automation control platforms.

CONSULTING SERVICES

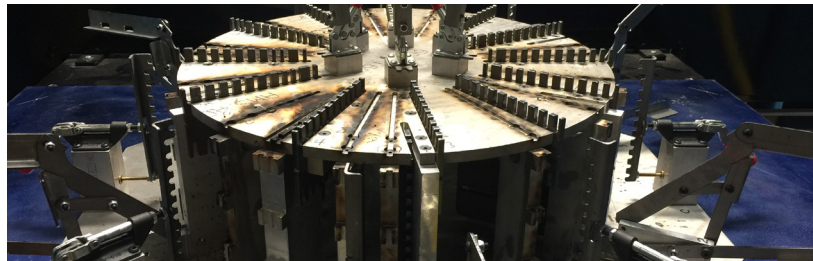

AWG offers formal and informal consulting services. Most of what we do daily basis could be considered consulting. If you demand higher level work such as welder qualification, long term cost studies or project engineering, talk to us. We have experience with many tools available which allow you to monitor and control your processes leading to higher efficiencies.

INDUSTRIAL GAS SUPPLY

AWG is one the largest independently owned gas suppliers in the US. We currently offer support in 20 states, with 17 fill plants and Tier 5 specialty gas labs. From large to small AWG has the capabilities to provide the customer with the best gas solutions to meet their needs. AWG is committed to providing solutions for a better tomorrow.
